Part One: Introduction

You must pay a fee to file a claim in Small Claims Court and for most steps in a proceeding such as filing a motion, requesting a trial date and taking steps to enforce a judgment.

Court fees are set out in regulations made under the Administration of Justice Act. In Part Two of this guide, the Small Claims Court Fees and Allowances regulation is reproduced. Other fees that you may have to pay, depending on the steps you take in your case, are set out in Part Three. For example, if you need to take steps to enforce your judgment, you may need to pay some of the fees listed in the Sheriff's Fees regulation. If you wish to appeal the judge's decision at trial, you will need to pay fees listed in the Court Reporter's and Court Monitor's Fees regulation for preparing the transcript of your case, as well as a fee for filing your appeal. Remember, you should always refer to the actual regulations.

The fee schedules in this guide are current as of the date of the guide. To be sure that you have the current fee schedules, always refer to the regulations. The current regulations are available at the court office or at the Ontario government's e-laws website at www.e-laws.gov.on.ca. Once you are on the site, follow these steps:

- Click on "Statutes and associated Regulations"
- Click on "A"
- Click on the cross to the left of "Administration of Justice Act"
- Click on the title of the regulation

Fees are payable in Canadian funds, and may be paid by cash, cheque or money order payable to the Minister of Finance.

What court fees will I have to pay if I make a claim in Small Claims Court?

The fees that must be paid in a proceeding vary from case to case depending on what steps you take.

Example 1

Meera sues Norman for a debt he owes to her. Meera wins at trial but Norman still does not pay. Meera files a Notice of Garnishment in the same court location to have his wages garnished. In this situation, the total fees that Meera would pay are as follows:

Plaintiff's claim:	$ 75
Filing a request for trial date:	$100
Notice of garnishment:	$100
Total Fees:	$275

If you summon a witness to attend your trial, you must pay the witness an attendance fee and travel allowance.

What if I cannot afford to pay the fees?

If you cannot afford to pay court or enforcement fees, you may request a fee waiver. The fee waiver applies to most fees in Small Claims Court proceedings. More information about fee waiver is available at any court office and on the Ministry of the Attorney General website at: www.attorneygeneral.jus.gov.on.ca. From the home page click on "Court Fees" then click on "A Guide to Fee Waiver Requests."

What is a frequent claimant?

A frequent claimant is a party who files 10 or more claims in a calendar year in Small Claims Court. Frequent claimants pay higher fees to file a claim, to file a default judgment and to fix a trial date. Once a party has filed his or her tenth claim, that party is required to pay the frequent claimant rate for all new actions and for new steps in current actions.
